“When we play venues like SPACE, they take care of us, and they take their time making the show happen—because they actually care about music and musicians. Let’s give it up for independent venues!”

Torquil Campbell,
Montréal indie-rock band Stars
& Soft Revolution podcast host

“SPACE has what any artist loves: a well-lit, comfortable space, great audience, keen and friendly staff, and a feeling of performing in a space that’s both regional, national and international. To work at SPACE is to know a handsome gig that any artist (me) wants to return to.”

Eileen Myles,
LAMBDA Literary Award winning poet,
Guggenheim Fellow, novelist, art journalist

“SPACE is more than just artist studios, an exhibition space, or an event venue—it’s a creative force that drives Portland. I don’t think my practice would have flourished without the grant they offered—and, most importantly, the community.”

Benjamin Spalding,
ARP Maine Project Grant recipient,
SPACE Studio artist, and MECA&D Foundations Chair
